Reading

Maths

In Maths this week, we began our unit on fractions. This has been a tricky week to get our head around comparing and ordering fractions, looking at which one is greater than the other.

We have done this for both unit fractions and non-unit fractions.

Star Writer

Florence for a lovely Star Write this week, with lots of great description.

Fantastic Handwriting

George S for doing some lovely handwriting this week. Keep working on those capital letters.

Science

In Science, we started a new topic on Light and Shadows. We learnt the keywords Luminous and Non-luminous and named different objects or things that fell into each category. We drew a results table to record our findings.

We also talked about what impact sunlight can have on us and how we can protect ourselves from sunlight.

PSHE

Today we started by talking about how we are not all the same, and that we shouldn't all be the same. We talked about all our qualities that we have and what makes us unique.

Geography

We have started our learning about Italy and looked at its location on the map.

We took a closer look at the Campania region and Naples, and marked these areas on the map.

English

This week, we looked at the book 'When the giant stirred'. We have worked hard on some writing techniques used to describe and wrote a setting description using fronted adverbials, similes, metaphors and expanded noun phrases.

In Reciprocal Reading, we started a new book called Bill's New Frock.

Year 3

Spring 2 2026

23.2.26 to 27.2.26

DT

This week in Design and Technology, we started our unit on textiles.

We began by investigating different pencil cases, answering different questions about them like what material they were made out of, how they opened and closed, and whether we liked them or not.

RE

This week, we completed our Catholic Social Teaching lesson, looking at the value of community and participation.

We discussed what it would be like to be part of a community and what our perfect community would look like, not excluding anyone.

We also retold the story of Jesus feeding the 5000. We broke the story into different sections, understanding that this was an incredible miracle Jesus performed.

NOTICES:

Next week, is a busy week. On Tuesday we have our School Trip to the Roman Baths and Mill Green Museum. Please wear your school uniform rather than PE kit. Thank you.

We are also celebrating World Book Day on Thursday with the theme of 'Alice in Wonderland'. Please do not go out and buy a costume but instead make an outfit from what you have at home.

Thank you for all my birthday messages!

Gold book

Jack for putting your hand up more in lessons to share your ideas and for improving your focus to produce some good quality work. Keep it up Jack!
