Reading

Science

In Science, we started a new topic on rocks and soil. We first recapped what we remembered about materials from Year 1 and 2, which was a lot.

We then drew a table that we will be revisiting in future weeks, about different types of rocks. This week we focused on their appearance, recording what the rocks looked like.

English

Our book this week is called Romulus and Remus. This has been an interesting story, with everyone doing some fantastic writing, retelling the story.

We have been using fronted adverbials, adverbs of manner and inverted commas to create a great Star Write.

In Reciprocal Reading, we have started to read the book The Roman Beanfeast, which links to History.

RE

This week we completed our Catholic Social Teaching lesson on Solidarity and Peace. We talked about the word 'solidarity' and what it means.

We then looked at some famous peacemakers and wrote a factfile on one of them with some key facts about them. This included what their occupation was, their values/beliefs and what actions they took for peace and solidarity.

Maths

In Maths this week, we have continued to look at Multiplication and Division, starting the week off with looking at multiples of 10, then related calculations as well as reasoning about multiplication, using the >, <, equal to symbols to compare multiplication sums.

Mass

We had a wonderful time at Church on Wednesday, celebrating the Epiphany.

Gold book

Sonnie for doing an incredible Star Write and for working so hard in Maths. You almost made Mrs Ives cry with how good it was. Well done Sonnie!

Star Writer

Glory for a lovely, well written Star Write.

Fantastic Handwriting

Karim who has shown some wonderful handwriting all week and now has his pen licence!

History

We started our new unit on the Romans, looking at what an empire is to start with, and then moving on to look at the spread of the empire over time.

We shaded in where the Romans invaded, clearly seeing a growth throughout the years. We will finish off next week, asking our own perceptive questions relating to our learning.

Art

We started our new unit on collage. We first looked at the artist Paul Klee, and explored one of his pieces of work called Highway and Byways. We started our own piece of work, painting strips of paper to use in our own interpretation of his work.
