In Science, we completed an investigation, looking at friction. We had a bottle top with nothing on and a bottle top with sandpaper on it. We were looking to see if the roughness of an object affects the friction.

We found that the smooth bottle top went further and the rough bottle top had more friction.

